understudying the absent second baseman.

Dillard Improves.

Dillard Improves.

Dillard fimproves upon acquaintance and Harper impresses beholders. Harper did some very good hitting in the game to-day, getting three singles in four times at bat. He swings neatly and meets the ball sweetly. Manager Tebeau put the men through a hard course of sprouts this morning. First they hit the ball and ran around the sacks on their bits. Then they had a whirl at bunting. Donlin and Heidrick, the fast fellows, are studying this specialty and promise to make a success of it. The hard gravel diamond is not suitable for bunting practice, as the ball cannot be laid dead on it. The batter in endeavoring to lay the bunt properly uses a false stroke.

Bunts which would be beautied at League Park roll hard to third base here. Mr. Tebeau figured to-day that the hard, gravelly infield cost him $50 a day for balls. The field is so sharp that a ball does not last ten minutes on it. The cover is torn and becomes wingy. In this condition the ball is hard to throw and to hit and does not fly fair off the bat to the outfield. Mr. Tebeau used up three and on-half dozen halls to-day, an expenditure of $51.

Capiain Bob Price the very capable manager of the park, says that next year will see his diamond sodded in strictly up-to-date style, though the sod will have to be hauled from Missouri to do it. Then Hot Springs will be without an equal as a training ground for ball players. Beyond the roughness of the diamond, the field is in splendid condition.

Captain Price has erected the handsome and most commodious arena of the Hot Springs Athletic Club contiguous to the and most commodious arena of the Hot Springs Athletic Club contiguous to the ball park. The clubhouse is not very large, but it is a gem in its line, and can seat 4,000 people right along the risgside. Som-of the best man be the control of the c 4.000 people right along the ringside. Some of the best men in the country have boxed there this year. Next Thursday Jinmy Murray, who is well-known in St. Louis, will fight Perry Queenan of Milwaukee in this chib. Murray fought Lally and Lewis of Chicago at St. Louis in 1899. Queenan boxed Eugene Bearcenah of Pete Nolan's celebrated alli-star string before Charley Haughton's West End Club in the same winter.

celebrated all-star string before Charley Haughton's West End Club in the same winter.

Sorry to Lose Childs.

The old players are sorry to lose Childs, but very glad that Cupid will not have to endure a repetition of the ignomy put upon him by St. Louis fans last season for another six months. Wallace was very sorry to see his old pai go, and says that Childs has years of great ball playing in him. Wallace is the only one left of the oelebrated Cleveland infield—Tebeau, McKean, Childs and Wallace. Burkett, the only one of the outfield. One year makes great changes in basebail.

The young players do not seem to think that McGraw will join the team, but the older ones feel sure that he will. They say that he is simply holding out for big money, either part of the purchase money paid by the Robisons to Baltimore, or bigger salary from the St. Louis club. The Chicago catcher, Tim Donobue, was unknid enough to say that the Robisons only made a bluff at buying McGraw to "con" their St. Louis constituents. This is hardly fair to the St. Louis club-owners. They paid a big price for Griffin, but that did not help them any when Mike failed to show up.

The Robisons know that the big price they said they paid for McGraw would not draw them flies until the player reported to them. Mr. Tebeau had a wire from Mr. Robison to night, stating that Keister would report on Sunday and that McGraw and Robinson would turn up later, the latter being indefinite, indeed. If Tebeau has McGraw he can use him to advantage in a trade, even if he will not play in St. Louis. If New York wants him Freedman might give George Davis for him, Chicago might give a good pitcher for him, but no manager, save Tobeau, wants McGraw, who is ambitious as Lociter, on their teams. They fear that he will be "after their jobs." With Tebeau it is different. Great player as McGraw is not a gett. Freedman wants to be "It" in New York, and he is afraid that with McGraw he would rake a chance with him as a gift. Freedman wants to be "It" in New York, and he is af ing a foeman worthy of their steel.

May Land McGraw.

If managers let diamond quarrels interfere with their business Tebeau would not have McGraw on his team, for he has had many a rough-and-tumble go with Murgey during the past five years. Notwithstanding their fights with fist and bat, they are good friends. The same may be said of O'Connor and Burkett. Some one said that it is wonderful how well you can like a man you have fought with after you make friends. Here is a case in point. man you have fought with after you make friends. Here is a case in point.

Mr. Tebeau got off a hot one last night at the expense of a newspaper correspondent who is with the team. A select circle was discussing the news of the day in the Avenue Hotel rotunda. McGraw was up for debate.

As four out of every five persons in the United States have Catarrh in some form, it may appropriately be called our national disease.

Catarrh begins with a simple inflammation of the inner living of the nostrils and throat—a bad cold—soon goes deeper and attacks the langs, stomach, kid-neys and other organs. The bul sceretions accu-mulate in the blood until the entire system is polluted. Catarrh is common and cures rare because the reatment is wrong. Sprays, washes and inhaling medicines relieve for a short time, but do not cure. Local treatment can not reach the seat of the disease, which is the blood.
